

Europe At work

You will soon spend a whole school day playing the simulation game Europe at Work with other classes from your school.

The game offers an insight into the world of the EU where you'll find solutions together and at the same time fight for power. The aim of the game is to learn how EU laws are made. This is done in a hands-on way where you don't forget everything afterwards.

The game is about the existing rules you have to follow when you want to work in another EU country. How easy should it be to get a job in another EU country? How difficult must it be for others to work in the same place? How much should the economy be allowed to decide? How do you prevent people from being exploited? Practical everyday questions to which millions of people demand sensible answers.

Europe at Work is a role-playing game. You will be divided into teams, all fighting for their own cause: Find the good ways of handling the situation, and win InfluencePoints!

The game is built using a digital platform which guides you through the unknowns of the subject. You will not get lost!

You will have more fun if you ...

- ... arrive on time and catch the introduction ...
- remember your computer or tablet